Intendance uses its four divisions - Intendance Research, Intendance Systems, Intendance Consulting and Intendance Design - to create a full-service website company with a wide range of expertise that compliments, and actively contributes to each division's services. Each division is explained in more detail below:

Intendance Systems encompasses all services associated with the development of a website across a range of business sectors. Typically based on our Open Source content management system 'MySource Matrix', we undertake every stage of a development project: technical consultancy and project planning, system build and testing, ongoing hosting, and support. We are also able to provide a comprehensive branding and design service through either our in-house team or our design partners.

Intendance Research publishes a series of reports each year focusing on the online activities of the professional services sector. Of these reports, the best known is our annual 'Fast Fifty' investigation into how law firms present themselves online and their attitude towards their websites. The knowledge gained through our research provides the foundation for our Best Practice' website development methodology and associated consultancy services. Research can be accessed either direct, or by subscribing for membership.

Intendance Consulting offers a comprehensive range of consultancy services tailored to meet your specific needs for developing your website and online strategy. Our groundwork ensures your website development projects are built on a sound foundation to ensure long-term business benefits. Our team of experienced consultants – drawn from a wide range of business disciplines – provides a comprehensive, bespoke consultancy service to assist in all aspects of formulating, analysing and testing your online strategy.

Intendance Design is based on a team of young and extremely talented designers who are imaginative, creative and passionate and follow a modern, cutting-edge and contemporary approach. Working closely with your team to define your identity and drawing on our extensive research and experience, we will push our creative skills to the limit to develop and visualise your unique personality. Website designs can be adapted for a wide range of material, from brochures, posters, flyers, e-flyers to ad campaigns and about every other marketing/sales tool you could imagine.

Our clients are supported through our offices in London and Paris.
